

2015 J. M. Burguières Family Council Election Slate of Nominees

C. Patout Branch Representative - Voting will be for one person from this group

Lillamaud Leike Hammond

Lillamaud (Lilla) L. Hammond is the daughter of Lee and Lilla Withnell Burguières Leike and granddaughter of C. Patout and Mary Lilla Burguières. As past-chair (2012-2014) of the JMB Family Council, she continues to serve on the Council. Lilla received a B.A. degree from Maryville University, St. Louis, Missouri, and a Masters in Library Science from The Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. She served as head of the circulation division at Catholic University Library and then at Georgetown University's library. She was elected president of the District of Columbia Library Association (1976). Since 1986, she has been a residential Realtor working in Maryland and Washington, D.C. During the 1990s she stepped aside from that career for five years to become the national director of marketing for the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, DC. In that position, she worked closely with U.S. municipalities across the country to establish a highly successful national purchasing alliance that has saved many cities millions of dollars each year. Continuing her Real Estate career, she currently serves in various community, business, and church organizations.

"Throughout my life I have worked with others to promote the common good. I want to continue to cultivate strong ties among our family members and to support the success of the J.M. Burguières Companies for the benefit of our children."

Ernest Branch Representative - Voting will be for one person from this group

Leila Bristow

Leila is the granddaughter of Ernest A. Burguières, Sr. and Isabella Moore. She is the daughter of Robin Burguières and the late Dr. O. Allen Bristow, Jr. Leila attended the University of London, graduated from Hollins University and received her MBA from the College of William & Mary in Virginia.

She is the Vice President of Worldwide Sales for Bivio Networks, a manufacturer of high performance cyber intelligence and security operations solutions deployed by the US Department of Defense, coalition partners, global intelligence agencies and Fortune 500 businesses. As a member of the executive team, Leila directs strategic planning, product development and marketing as well as acquiring technology partnerships and corporate teaming relationships with large companies such as General Dynamics and Lockheed Martin. Leila also serves as president, vice president or director on several volunteer boards.

In 2009 Leila was appointed to the Family Council by the JMB Board and served as Co-Chair. She attended "Families in Business" at Harvard University on behalf of The J. M. Burguières Company in 2009. In 2010 she was elected by the Family Assembly to the Family Council and selected as the Chair for 2010 - 2012. Leila also served on the JMB Partnership, LLC sub-board from 2009 - 2012. Leila was re-elected to the Family Council in 2012 and has served as Co-Chair since then. She currently chairs the Education and Family History Committee and co-chairs the Communications Committee and the Guest Houses and Cemeteries Committee. For over 8 years she supported Donna Onebane with detailed content, research, fact checking and editing of The House That Sugarcane Built: The Louisiana Burguières.

"Our family and our company has thrived over the years. We have a responsibility to ensure our continued success for future generations. Through my efforts I hope to promote a greater understanding and pride in our family and our company. The Family Council has accomplished much in the past few years with the establishment of four committees, the Heritage Education Program for the next generation, meeting themes, special projects, etc. I am proud of our efforts and would like continue in my role."

Rick Burguières

Rick Burguières is the son of John (Jack) Burguières, from the Henry Branch. He was born and raised in northern New Jersey, moved to Washington, DC and with his family subsequently moved to Greensboro, NC in 2004. Rick attended the University of South Carolina and graduated with a BS in Business Administration and a major in marketing. Currently, Rick works in federal law enforcement as an Assistant Special Agent-in-Charge with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, managing investigations of alleged Medicare fraud. In 2006 he started a successful sole-proprietor E-business Company called the Cypremort Sugar Kettles. The company manufactures and sells replica cast iron sugar kettles primarily used in a landscape setting. The company also markets two other lines of outdoor living products. Cypremort Sugar Kettles provided the shareholder gift, the Mini Sugar Kettle, for the JMB annual meeting in 2008.

Rick is married to Shelley Prichard Burguières, formerly of Monroe, Louisiana. Both of Rick and Shelley's children have actively participated in past Heritage Education Programs (HEP). Sarah attended the inaugural HEP meeting at the 2011 JMB annual meeting. Charlie attended the 2012 HEP meeting. Rick currently serves on the Family Council, and as the chair of the Guest Houses and Cemetery Committee.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed serving on the JMB Family Council these past three years. I would like to continue on the Family Council in order to maintain the positive momentum we have made on projects and matters before the Council. I would be appreciative of the opportunity to further my contributions toward our mutual goal of effective and open communications among the JMB family."

Denis Hein

I am Denis Hein, son of Denise Louise Burguières Hein, grandson of Denis Philip Joseph Burguières Jr. My uncle is Philip Joseph Burguières. I have 2 brothers, Steven and Robert. I reside in Phoenix, AZ with my wife Tracey and two sons Gabriel 5 and Ethan 2.

I attended Loyola University, New Orleans where I received a BA in literature. I always enjoyed visiting my grandparents in New Iberia, as a child, and have strong ties Louisiana. While in college I went to New Iberia on many occasions and had attended the family meetings in New Orleans, while attending school. My wonderful wife, Tracey Warren, attended Tulane and we met while in New Orleans.

I am an Operational Risk Manager and part of the senior leadership team at Wells Fargo Bank. I and my team assess technology, innovation risks and go forward strategies. I have held positions in management, managing both large budgets and team members. My role consists of continually building and fostering relationships, by helping executives and business heads understand risks of new and evolving technology.

My mother and I often talk about JMB and I try to keep her updated on the activities with the company. I am very excited about this opportunity, so I may continue to pass on the wonderful JMB legacy to future generations.
